

DERIVING CHEMICAL STRUCTURAL INFORMATION

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method and a system are provided for deriving chemical structures from chemical names. Chemical name fragments are grouped into a number of classifications. The method and the system handle new and old chemical names, including names for organic and inorganic substances. The method and the system handle inverted names, including inverted names with missing commas or with extraneous spaces.